

Data Results

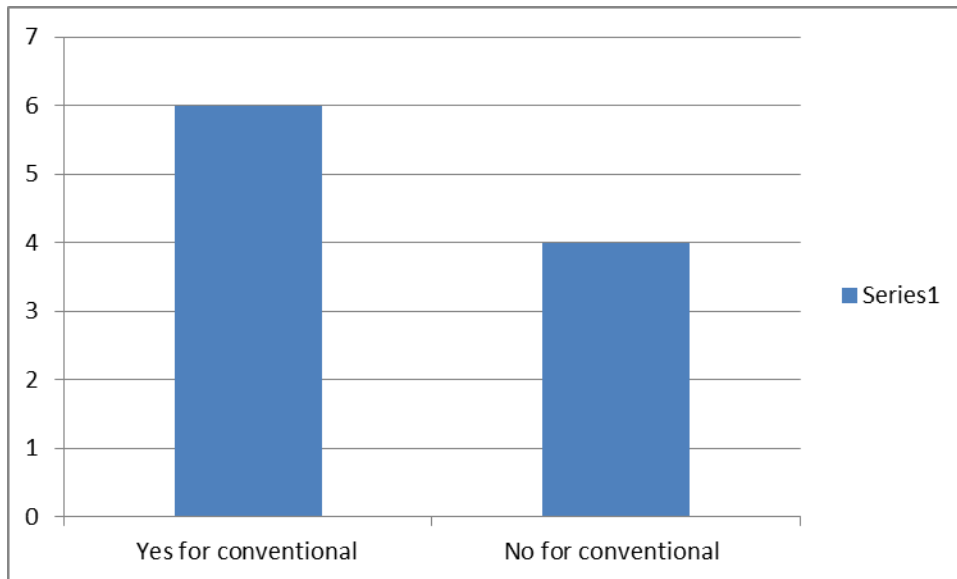

The first graph is showing the results for the preference of medicine. In other words, which medicine they preferred.

The second graph is showing results for the side effects in homeopathy. In other words, did they have side effects when taking homeopathy.

The third graph is showing results for the side effects in conventional medicine. In other words, did they have side effects when taking conventional medicine.

The fourth graph is showing results for the effectiveness. In other words, was conventional and homeopathic medicine effective when you took them.

